AMAZONIAN LIPIDS

Oxford, CT (November 5, 2012) - Natural Sourcing is pleased to announce the inclusion of a growing line of Amazonian Lipids within its selection of specialty ingredients for use in personal care product development.

The lipids derived from the botanicals found in the lush Amazonian rainforests provide essential nutrients for moisturizing and revitalizing the skin and hair. Acting at the cellular level, they help regulate the activity, moisture content and regeneration of skin cells. Amazonian lipids demonstrate excellent potential within innovative personal care products designed to promote healthy skin and hair.

Natural Sourcing procures only the finest quality Amazonian lipids, processed and stored in a manner that carefully maintains the nutritive components, freshness and superior quality of each ingredient.
