PALM-FREE ORGANIC VEGETABLE GLYCERIN

Oxford, CT (April 2, 2013) - Natural Sourcing is pleased to announce the inclusion of palm-free Organic Vegetable Glycerin within its growing line of specialty ingredients for use in personal care product development.

Organic Vegetable Glycerin is heralded for its wide range of applications within personal care. Scientifically, glycerin is a sugar alcohol and is traditionally referred to as glycerol. Glycerin can be produced from vegetable or animal sources.

Natural Sourcing Palm-Free Organic Vegetable Glycerin is certified and is ethically and sustainably produced from non-GMO soybeans. It is completely palm free and is a superior, vegan, pharmaceutical quality glycerin that meets USP standards. It is carefully produced, packaged and stored to maintain the purity, freshness, humectant and other beneficial properties of this versatile product.

INCI: Glycerin

Country of Origin: India

Shelf Life: 2 Years

Cosmeceutical Uses:

As an emollient, lubricant and noteworthy humectant, Organic Vegetable Glycerin is well suited for a wide range of moisturization applications that include skin, hair, nail and lip care. It restores elasticity to aging and damaged skin. It is non-irritating, soothing and is heralded for its ability to moisturize dry and cracked skin. Organic Vegetable Glycerin is noncomedogenic and is an ideal choice for inclusion in formulations intended for oily and acne-prone skin. It is a remarkable humectant for use in hair care products intended to restore health to dry, brittle and lifeless hair. Vegetable Glycerin's non-irritating and anti-bacterial properties make it an exceptional ingredient within formulations intended for skin abrasions, wounds, burns, eczema and rashes. Vegetable Glycerin is a natural, alcohol-free solvent that can be used in the preparation of botanical extracts.
